The trek of Brahmatal begins from Lohajung village in the Chamoli district in Garhwal Himalayas which is also the base camp for the trekkers here. The trek's trail begins from Lohajung which is an 8-9 hours' journey from Dehradun through picturesque and convoluting roads of the Kumaon and Garhwal region. The route is almost always gloomy and hazy which goes through the foliage of the coniferous and dense forest. The long meandering road is full of loops and curves. The further trek from Lohajung to the Gujreni campsite, which is 6 KM, runs through dark and dumpy forests.
